| Jennifer Pitman, Specialist Head of Department, Silver, remarked: "The results of the Important Silver auction reflect the enduring demand for 20th century silver. The strength of this category was demonstrated by the success of objects spanning from the beginning of the century, with the Tiffany Coffee Service of 1900 and the Ramsden Nef of 1928, to contemporary silver by makers such as Buccellati and Georg Jensen. The most popular silver from earlier periods was hands-down the work of the American Patriot, Paul Revere." |                                                                                                        |                                                                    |                                   |                                      |
